A Little Bit About Me

Cornelia is calm and quiet in their kennel. She needs a home willing to use positive reinforcement training to build their confidence. Cornelia is shy on first meeting but if you give her time they warm up quickly. She would so best in a calm quiet home due to their personality and demeanor.

Cornelia seems to do well with other dogs and would love a buddy to play with in their new home. We would suggest laid back, calm dogs in their new home. They are so low maintenance and calm, a hyper, playful dog might stress them out.

We would suggest other dogs and/or children meet them prior to being adopted because we want to make sure they do not overwhelm him. In time with TLC, patience, and confidence building they will fit perfectly into their forever family.
